

AGRICULTURE UNION HUMAN RIGHTS COMMITTEE

The Agriculture Union Human Rights Committee is mandated to promote awareness of equity and human rights issues by providing resources, information and educational opportunities for all members. The Committee, comprised of 7 Representatives elected in their region, is committed to ensuring equality for our members in all workplaces and in our union. This commitment is shown by ensuring opportunities are available for women, persons with disabilities, racially-visible, aboriginal and gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgendered members in all facets of our union activity.

The Agriculture Union Human Rights Network is a major vehicle for our equity members to communicate and participate in activities within the union and within their workplaces. Members of the network will receive information on equity events and opportunities available in their respective area as well as nationally.

If you would like to become a member of the Network, or would like more information, please send an e-mail to our National Director, Human Rights or contact your Human Rights Regional Representative (contact information available on the Human Rights website) at: <http://www.syndicatagr.com/en/humanrights.html>. Please indicate which region you are from, and your contact information. As an option, we welcome you to self-identify as a member of any of the five designated groups.

While optional, those members self-identifying as from a particular designated group may also be used as resource persons for the Agriculture Union Human Rights Committee and the National Council.

Additional information on the Agriculture Union Human Rights Committee can be found on our Web site at:
